Rush County Teachers Institute will be Held Mornings of Chautauqua Week in Court House

TWO EXCELLENT SPEAKERS

Dr. A. B. Hall of University of Wisconsin and Dr. Wirt Lowther of Columbus Will Lecture

The usual plan of holding the Rush County Teachers' institute in co-operation with the chautauqua will again be followed this year. The institute sessions will be held in the court house assembly room starting in the mornings at eight o'clock and continuing until eleven-thirty o'clock. The first session will be held on Monday, August 3 and the closing one on Friday.

The lecturers this year are Dr. Arnold B. Hall and Dr. Wirt Lowther. Dr. Hall is professor of history in the University of Wisconsin and will give the teachers addresses upon the philosophy and function of history. Dr. Lowther will give a series of lectures upon literary authors and their productions. He appeared before the teachers last year and needs no introduction as his work was very interesting and instructive. Dr. Lowther is pastor of the First Methodist church in Columbus.

County Superintendent C. M. George has not yet secured the subjects of the addresses but both speakers will give a series of talks on literature and history. The sessions of the institute are open to all teachers who expect to teach in Rush county this year and they are compelled to pay the institute fee.

Arie M. Taylor will be in charge of the music at the opening exercises of the institute. County Superintendent George will act as chairman and Miss Freda Flint is the secretary-treasurer of the institute. The institute, as it has been held, has been growing in favor and a record crowd is expected this year.

The annual business session of the institution will be held following the regular program on Friday morning and is the last thing before adjournment. At this time the reports of the committees will be received and officers elected.

WHEAT AVERAGES 7 TO 15 BUSHELS

Hessian Fly and Joint Worm Cause Unusually Small Yield in Walker Township This Year.

460 BUSHELS OFF 40 ACRES

Reports from Walker township are in effect that the wheat crop is almost a failure. Although there are a few good fields, not many of them average over from seven to fifteen bushels to the acre. In spite of this will make up to some extent for the extremely low average, the wheat is grading better than usual and this make up to some extent for the shortage in yield. As an example, the grain from one field near Manilla was sold yesterday and forty acres only produced four hundred and sixty bushels of wheat.

The reason for this unusual condition is the fact that the Hessian fly and the joint worm have got in their work in Walker township. In addition to this, it is pointed out that the wheat was extremely hard to eat this year.

The corn crop in all parts of the county is said to give prospect of an unusually large yield.

ACCEPTED APPOINTMENT.

Attorneys were in court yesterday on the case of the Fairview Burial Grounds Association against John F. Smelser for the appropriation of ground for cemetery use. Samuel L. Innis accepted the appointment as special judge to hear the case and it was agreed that a statement of facts should be filed. Judge Megee held the court record open for the proceedings of yesterday.

The annual business session of the institution will be held following the regular program on Friday morning and is the last thing before adjournment. At this time the reports of the committees will be received and officers elected.

Straw Covered With Canvas—What Each One Furnishes.

WILL CAMP AT WEBB'S FORD

Plans for the Boy Scout camp were completed last night at a meeting held at the Christian church. The camp will begin on Wednesday, July 22 and continue a week or longer. The camp will be located at Webb's Ford, southwest of the city, and will be in charge of Carl Webb. The regular Boy Scout rules and work will prevail. Plenty of tents are obtainable and the executive committee hopes to make the camp a great success.

Cots will not be necessary as the beds will be of straw covered with canvas. A cook will be employed and the camp will be complete in every detail. A stove, lanterns, hatchets, camp stools, rope and many other things are needed and the boys are asked to report to either Carl Webb or L. B. Smelser if they have any of these.

Each boy must give one dollar to

HAS ADVANTAGE OF MUCH TRAVEL THREATENS TO SET NEW RECORD

Dr. Herbert L. Willett, University of Chicago Professor, Will Open The Chautauqua This Year.

HE IS A CHARMING SPEAKER

He is Styled as the Most Scholarly and Attractive Lecturer on Literature of the Bible.

Dr. Herbert L. Willett of the University of Chicago will open the annual Rush county chautauqua this year Sunday, August 2 with two lectures, one in the afternoon and one in the evening. His afternoon subject will be, "The Man of Nazareth" and evening subject, "The Spirit of Youth."

Dr. Willett, who is professor of Semitic language and literature in the University of Chicago, and pastor of the Memorial Church of Christ, Chicago, has rightly been styled by the Christian Advocate of Nashville, Tenn., the most attractive and scholarly lecturer on the literature and biography of the bible to be found anywhere in America. In both Europe and America his lectures have attracted wide attention. He is a charming speaker with a clear, resonant voice, splendid appearance, eloquent language and strong reasoning qualities.

Dr. Willett has also had the advantages of travel in Bible lands. In fact, he completed recently a ten months' tour of the world, in which he visited many of the most prominent mission fields and returning, brought a wealth of latest material on recent developments, especially in the Orient. This tour lends added interest to his chautauqua and Lyceum work.

Best of all, Dr. Willett's lectures are of such a nature that they are bound to bear fruit in the lives of those who comprise his audiences. In this connection, commenting editorially on Dr. Willett's address at La Crosse, the LaCrosse Leader-Press said:

"Dr. Herbert L. Willett's commencement address at the LaCrosse State Normal school yesterday was one of those rare utterances which in truth give shape to human lives. No young man or young woman under twenty-five could hear it without being inspired to unremitting effort in every kind of enterprise upon which the future depends. No other person could hear it without a sense of profound gratitude for having been put into possession of so comprehensive a view of paramount facts of human history and for having been so soundly encouraged to think that to the last day of our lives there is still time for a word or a deed in humanity's service that is worth while."

Quoting further from the Nashville, Tenn., Christian Advocate, it says: "He has rare power to make the great moral leaders of the Bible, live and move before us, while he interprets in terms of modern thought and of the religious needs of our day the great messages which they brought to the people of their own times."

The School News at De Moines, Ia., following the lecture by Dr. Willett said: "It is well said that West High has not had a better example of clear, beautiful English, delivered in most pleasing manner."

Mrs. Bruce Johnson of west of this city is in a very serious condition, and little hope for her recovery is expressed.

IS KNOWN AS "GREEN IMP" GARDNER FOUND GUILTY BY JURY

Dr. Frank H. Green's Automobile Built as he Wanted it.

The "Green Imp" is the name placed on the new automobile owned by Dr. F. H. Green and built at the Bowen garage. The machine was completed today and is now in use by Dr. Green. Dr. Green wanted an automobile built along certain lines and not being able to find what he wanted in the market decided to have it built to his order at the Bowen garage. It is a classy roadster with six cylinders having seventy-two horse power. Albert Capp liked the Green idea of a car and is having a roadster built here that will develop ninety-two horse power. A new truck for the telephone company is also being built at the Bowen place.

Governor Ralston Refuses Today to Allow Six Evansville Brewers Sent to Tennessee.

Indianapolis, Ind., July 11.—Governor Ralston today refused to honor requisition papers for the return to Tennessee of six Evansville brewers who were indicted at Memphis for alleged violation of the four miles state prohibition law of Tennessee.

And the crafty old weather man, in his same old crafty way, made the same old crafty prediction today. He took out the same old slug, "Generally fair tonight and Saturday," brushed last night's dew off and changed the Saturday to read Sunday, and there you are—Saturday's prediction.

Now, no one is going to deny that statement because it is true. Everyone knew it was true, hence the absence of argument. The thermometer threatened to set new records for the summer this afternoon when the mercury had soared to ninety-eight degrees.

TWO MEN AND A BOY ARE KILLED IN FIRE

Fifteen Mill Men and Railroad Employees Are Injured, One Fatally When Two Mills Burn.

BOY'S DEATH IS PATHETIC

By United Press.
Bismarck, Wash., July 11.—Death came today to two railroad men and a boy when fire destroyed two lumber mills. Fifteen railroad men and mill employees were injured, one fatally. Switchman W. A. Mannor was fatally burned. The three bodies were removed from under a locomotive which was wrecked in trying to pull lumber out of the flames.

The death of the boy was pathetic. When rails, warped by the flames, wrecked the locomotive the boy's right hand and foot were pinned beneath the tender. He slowly roasted to death calling for help while men worked frantically to save him.

Indianapolis Packer is Fined $500 Today for Having Unwholesome Meat in His Possession.

SEALED VERDICT LAST NIGHT

Case is Tried in Criminal Court on Appeal After Conviction in Police Court.

By United Press.
Indianapolis, Ind., July 11.—Charles J. Gardner, wealthy meat packer, was today found guilty in criminal court of having unwholesome meat in his possession and was fined $500. Gardner appealed to criminal court when he was convicted recently in police court.

The jury reached an agreement about 10 o'clock last night and returned a sealed verdict, which was read this morning. An attempt was made to get all the attorneys in the case together last night that the verdict might be opened, but all of them could not be found. The jury retired at 4:30 o'clock.

Maj. Downing, special judge, before whom the case was tried, instructed the jury that the state not only must prove that Gardner had the carcass of the alleged diseased cow in his possession, but it must go further and show that the beef was intended for sale for human food, or to have been exposed for sale.

The law under which Gardner was indicted does not prevent a person from having the carcass of a diseased animal, or unwholesome meat in his possession if it is not held for purposes forbidden by the act.

Gardner took the witness stand in his own behalf at the morning session. He told of having bought the cow after it was killed by a humane officer and said he had not ordered one of the state's witnesses to "dress it in the usual manner." He asserted what orders he gave were to the foreman of the packing plant. He said he had no intention of exposing the carcass for sale. The penalty on the charge on which Gardner was tried is a fine of $10 to $500, to which might have been added imprisonment in jail for ten to 180 days.

Alfred Kersey, a carpenter of Lewisville, fell off a barn he was building north of Lewisville Thursday and suffered serious injuries.

Who is Getting the Money

This is directed to the eye of local retailers.

When nationally made products are advertised in the columns of The Daily Republican a demand is created right here.

It is among people who are either your customers or would like to be.

The dealers who are alert to let the public know they have these goods, who display them in their windows, who advertise the fact bring this business their way.

And more important than making sales is the fact that these dealers are also making customers.

They are adding to their asset of good will.

FARMERS USING MORE FERTILIZER

This is Indicated by Rapidly Growing Production of Soil Foods and Increased Importation.

IN THIS CLASS OF PRODUCTS

That American farmers are using constantly increasing quantities of fertilizers is evident both from the rapidly growing production of soil foods in the United States and from the marked increase in importations of that class.

A steady increase in the available supply of fertilizers is indicated by the latest statistics of the Government. The domestic manufacture of fertilizers, for example, as reported by the Bureau of the Census, in 1909, amounted to 104 million dollars or nearly double the total reported for 1904. Of phosphate rock the domestic production has doubled since 1902, the total for 1912, according to the United States Geological Survey, being about 3 million tons, of which 1 million tons were exported. Of cottonseed oil cake, about one-fourth of the total consumption of 1½ million tons is used for fertilizer purposes, recent estimates placing the value of the oil cake thus employed without first feeding it to animals at from 6 to 8 million dollars per annum. The domestic production of sulphur, which yields sulphuric acid, an important material in the manufacture of fertilizers, has increased enormously in recent years—from 3,147 long tons in 1900 to 303,472 tons in 1912, exclusive of about 350,000 tons of pyrites, also a source of sulphuric acid. About 90 per cent. of all the sulphuric acid made in this country is used in the preparation of superphosphates and other artificial fertilizers.

Imports of fertilizer materials also increased, data compiled by the Bureau of Foreign and Domestic Commerce, Department of Commerce, for the period ended with April, 1914, indicating greatly enlarged arrivals of nitrates, potash salts, and other similar materials. The important exceptions relate to those articles the domestic production of which has so increased as to obviate the necessity of large importations, as in the case of phosphates, to those, the supply of which has diminished, as in the case of guano, formerly abundant in South America, South Africa, and certain Pacific Islands but yearly becoming more scarce as an article of commerce.

Nitrate of soda ranks first in value of imports of fertilizer materials, the total imports thereof in the fiscal year having exceeded a half million tons, valued at over 20 million dollars. About 15 per cent. of this is used for fertilizer. Of sulphate of ammonia, the imports increased from 15 thousand tons in 1903 to 55 thousand tons, valued at nearly 4 million dollars in 1913, and in the July-April period of the current year have already reached 71 thousand tons. We also imported 15 thousand tons of calcium cyanamide, popularly known as "air-nitrogen."

Kainit, a potash salt of very low prices, was imported last year to the extent of 466 thousand tons, valued at 2 million dollars; sulphate of potash, 43 thousand tons, valued at nearly 2 million dollars; and other fertilizer salts, 172 thousand tons, value at 2 million dollars. About 90 per cent. of the imported potash is used for fertilizers, and only about 10 per cent. in the manufacture of glass, soap-making, and other chemical industries. The imports of both the nitrates and the potash salts have more than doubled in the last ten years.

Other important fertilizers imported last year included 33 thousand tons of bone dust, or animal charcoal; 15 thousand tons of Thomas meal, derived from basic slag, a phosphorus-bearing by-product of Thomas-Gilchrist process of making steel; and 115 thousand tons of miscellaneous substances used only for manure. Our imports of guano, which amounted to 17,218 tons in 1903, amounted to only 16,462 tons in 1913; and those of crude phosphate have fallen from 153,096 tons in 1903 to 23,478 tons in 1913, a decrease of 85 per cent. in the decade.

The United States obtains practically all its potash salts from Germany; its nitrate of soda, from Chile; its bone dust, chiefly from Europe, Canada, and India; and its miscellaneous fertilizers, mostly from Canada, Germany, Belgium, and the United Kingdom.

Imports of fertilizer materials also increased, data compiled by the Bureau of Foreign and Domestic Commerce, Department of Commerce, for the period ended with April, 1914, indicating greatly enlarged arrivals of nitrates, potash salts, and other similar materials. The important exceptions relate to those articles the domestic production of which has so increased as to obviate the necessity of large importations, as in the case of phosphates, to those, the supply of which has diminished, as in the case of guano, formerly abundant in South America, South Africa, and certain Pacific Islands but yearly becoming more scarce as an article of commerce.

THAT SUNDAY RUSH

A Talk to Mrs. Housewife of Rushville.

When that visitor is here from out-of-town you hurry home from church on Sunday morning to make sure the big dinner is going to be just right. You "pitch in" yourself and when everything is ready you're too tired and hot to enjoy the meal. When the meal is over there comes the cleaning up before that afternoon drive and for the rest of the day you feel unfit for your role of entertaining hostess.

There's only one way to overcome that worry and hurry, to prevent "that tired feeling" before your day of rest is half through. Your husband will agree on that point when you suggest taking Mr. and Mrs. Out-of-Town to a Sunday dinner at the

WEAK EFFORT TO OFFSET EFFECT

Professional Bull Moose Agitators First Deny Indicted Election Officials were Progressives

THE RESOLUTION FALLS FLAT

Charges of Crookedness give Foundation to Well Defined Rumor of "Working Agreement."

(Special to the Daily Republican)

Indianapolis, Ind., July 11.—There was some rather lively scurrying of professional Bull Moose agitators the other evening when announcement was made that a half dozen Progressive members of election boards had been indicted on charges of election corruption in connection with the recent primaries in the county. It was apparent in double quick time to the leaders of the Beveridge party, whose official tune is "Onward Christian Soldiers," that something must be done to offset the effect that this revelation would have on the public mind. A weak effort was made to deny that the men under indictment were Progressives but the fact remained that the men so charged served as Progressive members of the boards that are charged with crookedness. It was finally decided that the Bull Moose candidates in Marion county should meet and pass a "strong" resolution against the present Indiana primary law which was done and heralded broadcast.

Wilson's Big Stick

President Wilson has again demonstrated his lack of tact in attempting to force through the senate his appointments of Paul M. Warburg of New York and T. D. Jones of Chicago, a director of the International Harvester company, when the senate does not take the same view, apparently, of the two men as the president.

Many senators are up in arms over the president's violent use of the big stick and are freely asserting that the president's dictum that the two nominations be confirmed whether or not the senate agrees is striking at the dignity and independence of the upper house.

It appears that it was more in the spirit of retaliation than anything else that the senate committee of banking and currency voted adversely on the Jones nomination and by a unanimous vote decided that no more attention shall be given to the nomination of Warburg. But the president goes them one better. He says that if the senate refuses to confirm his appointment of Warburg, he will not name another in his place, thus leaving the place open and making it appear that the fault lies at the door of the senate. In other language, the president has decided that if the senate will not play his way there will be no play.

Action on the Warburg appointment was held up because Warburg refused to go before the committee and submit to questioning. The decision of the committee is equivalent to indefinite postponement. Warburg had first withdrawn his name, but was later persuaded by the president to allow it to be presented to the committee with the understanding that he would not have to appear before the committee. It was with this condition of affairs that President Wilson freely predicted to visitors Thursday that both Warburg and Jones' appointments would be confirmed.

Mr. Jones, a friend of the president's for twenty years, was under fire because he has been director of the International Harvester company better known as the Harvester trust. He was director at the time alleged acts of the trust were held illegal by the supreme court of Missouri, and based on the same evidence, the United States department of justice has started a suit against the Harvester trust.

The president was quoted as saying he doubted the accuracy of the facts set out in the statement given the press by Acting Chairman Hitchcock, of the committee concerning the statements of Mr. Jones before that committee.

The President was quoted as saying that "if the statements of the committee did not agree with those made by him in his letter to the committee concerning Mr. Jones he doubted the accuracy of these statements."

WANTED—All farmers that want a good gate—examine our $3.90 gate with adjustable hinges at Oneal Bros. National Gate Co. • 78t sponse to this was significant:

"If the President has been correctly quoted, and if he doubts the accuracy of the statement given out by way of the committee, the confidential print of the testimony of Mr. Jones is at his disposal, as are all confidential papers. That testimony will show exactly what Mr. Jones had to say to the committee."

Hitchcock further stated that the action of the committee with respect to Mr. Jones was based upon his connection with the Harvester company. He said the report would not be made for several days, as it was deemed to be desirable to incorporate in the report the decisions of the court in Missouri when the Harvester trust was ousted in that state.

The court records, it was stated, set out acts committed during three years of the incumbency of Jones as a director of the Harvester trust, which the court held were in violation of the law.

The fight has gone beyond the mere question of whether Mr. Warburg is or is not fitted for a place on the Reserve Board.

What Our Neighbors Are Talking About

Lincoln a Party Man.

(Washington Herald)

Charles W. Fairbanks in his admirable address to the Republican newspaper men this week, called attention to the fact that Abraham Lincoln was a party man. He believed that political parties are "essential in organizing and giving expression to the will of the people in popular government." Mr. Fairbanks quoted from a letter written by Lincoln in 1864, in which the policy of party regularity is urged.

It is a common thing for the demagogues of the day to denounce party government and advocate party disloyalty. Some of these persons pose as replicas of Lincoln, and in his name advance heresies of government that are antagonistic to everything that Abraham Lincoln thought, said or did. Mr. Lincoln believed in the law, in the constitution, in representative government. If he were alive today he would have no more patience with the wild-eyed and loose tongued enthusiasts of the day than he had for similar characters of his time, the crack-brain zealots who made his life miserable when a responsibility rested upon him greater than the burden that any other president has had to carry.

Mr. Lincoln was opposed to human slavery, of course. But his first thought was for the preservation of the union under the federal constitution. He knew that all the other problems were of secondary importance and that these were certain of orderly adjustment if the integrity of the constitution could be maintained.

Lincoln was not an agitator. He was a statesman.

G.O.P. SHOULD BE BACK IN POWER

This is Opinion of E. C. Davis of Crown Point, Former Progressive, Who Writes State Chairman.

COMMENDS PARTY'S ATTITUDE

Says Living Examples of Democratic Incapacity Are in Daily Evidence in State and Nation.

[Special to the Daily Republican.] Indianapolis, Ind., July 11.—Chairman Will H. Hays of the Republican committee today received a letter from E. C. Davis of Crown Point, Indiana, who was a Progressive in 1912, in which he commended the Republican state chairman for the statements he recently issued "to every well-wisher of good government in Indiana." Mr. Davis writes as follows:

"I take pleasure in endorsing every statement made in the literature sent out by the Republican state central committee, and I hereby pledge you my assistance and co-operation in the coming campaign.

"I left the Republican party and voted the progressive ticket in 1912 in the belief that the Progressive party at that time offered the most effective panacea for the ills of the Democratic legislation. Since then the changed attitude of the Republican party, coupled with the pleasant remembrance of its great achievements, its position on the vital issues and among them the tariff question on which the Democratic legislation has proved so hurtful, I became convinced that the Republican party should be returned to power.

"Living examples of Democratic incapacity are in daily evidence in the administration of both state and national affairs. The party has always been strong on promises and weak in execution; its leaders are usually impracticable theorists. Democracy is by far a greater menace to good government today than the so-called Republican bosses.

"I agree with you that the country needs today a united Republican party in order that no harm shall come to the republic."

BAD OPERATION AVOIDED

By Timely Use of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Mrs. Sowers' Own Statement.

Hodgdon, Maine.—"I feel it a duty I owe to all suffering women to tell what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound did for me. One year ago I found myself a terrible sufferer. I had pains in both sides and such a soreness I could scarcely straighten up at times. My back ached, I had no appetite and was so nervous I could not sleep, then I would be so tired mornings that I could scarcely get around. It seemed almost impossible to move or do a bit of work and I thought I never would be any better until I submitted to an operation. I commenced taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and soon felt like a new woman. I had no pains, slept well, had good appetite and could do almost all my own work for a family of four. I shall always feel that I owe my good health to your medicine." —Mrs. HAYWARD SOWERS, Hodgdon, Maine.

If you are ill do not drag along until an operation is necessary, but at once take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

If you have the slightest doubt that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound will help you, write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., Lynn, Mass., for advice. Your letter will be opened, read and answered by a woman, and held in strict confidence.

Children's Playgrounds

A Modern Municipal Innovation Considered a Prime Necessity to Child Development.

By J. Feudner.

I see by the Republican that the citizens of Rushville have started a movement to establish a children's playground, and I think this is a movement in the right direction. Froebel, the great German teacher, who was the originator of the Kindergarten schools, had for his watch-word. "Come, let us live for our children's sake."

Society has recognized that more outdoor life must be given our children if our men and women are to be physically strong. This outdoor opportunity must be given through joyous, spontaneous play. If the child's energy be not given an outlet in play in the right direction, it has been learned that we must multiply probation officers and juvenile courts; but when playgrounds are established experience has demonstrated that there is a decrease in the amount of juvenile crime.

Those fallen below the poverty line if they are to rise above it, must have sufficient powerful incentivess to draw them up. Joy and pleasure have greater power than fear and pain.

Recreation gives balance, poise, physical faith, adaptability, the capacity for entering new tasks, and thus is a powerful factor in social progress in this field.

The part which play is to have in social progress is being recognized as never before although the playground movement may be said to be still in its infancy. The legislatures of several states have taken cognizance of this fact and have passed laws authorizing the establishment of municipal playgrounds for children, and I believe Indiana is one of these states that has passed a law of this kind.

The play movement, like other social and educational movements that have come under public control, began as a private philanthropy. Several years ago, probably nine-tenths of all the playgrounds in this country were being carried on in this way; today most of them are under some city department. There can be no question of the tendency all over the country, it is strongly toward support and public control.

The city of Denver, I find, has two playgrounds for children, a few of these are attached to the various parks, while the balance are located in such parts of the city as to bring these playgrounds within reach of children in all parts of the city, including sections where foreign children predominate.

The history of Denver's playgrounds dates back of the forming of the Playground Association; for ever since there have been boys in Denver they have made playgrounds of the vacant lots, regardless of the adjoining windows. An appropriation of $5,000 was made by the city in 1906 for the establishment of two playgrounds. As supervised centers of interest they answered very well for these congested districts, but football and base ball were just as interesting in other parts of the city, and broken windows and complaints to the police headquarters indicated a crying need elsewhere. Thus these first two playgrounds have grown to ten.

Play is nature's short cut to experience, it is the key which opens to the child the storehouse in which is treasured the experience of the race. Childhood and youth then are the time for action; all the habits and reflexes which are to govern in later life must be formed during adolescence.

The alluring call of instinct to play, moreover, must be heeded and obeyed at the proper time, or like the water running through the mill dam, which is not harnessed to the wheel, it will be forever lost. Thus we see the plays of childhood have a definite pedagogical value for through these plays, when taken advantage of, right life, habits of physical mental and moral reaction may be formed.

There is a proper time when children can learn to play ball, to throw, to jump, to dance, to handle tools working out the play instruments of boys of most all ages, and quite contrary to the assumption, he does not ask for anything better. So this is what the playground has to compete with, and, in order to do this successfully, opportunities must be offered whereby distinction may be gained, where the boy may test his speed without breaking the law; where he may test his skill throwing a ball over a home base instead of a window which is of about the same size; where he may steal bases in a game instead of fruit—in fine, where he may distinguish himself among his own kind, whose opinions concerning himself he values above everything else."

We hear much about "social centers" for towns and cities, and no doubt such a need is felt. Every town should have a social center for the grown-ups. On this subject Mr. Eckhart, a Chicago student of the recreation centers, says:

"In these playgrounds lies the real beginning of the social redemption of the people in large cities. The greatest need of American life today is some common meeting-ground for the people, where business may be forgotten, friendships formed and co-operation established. The playground seems to have great possibilities in that direction. It is already the social center for the children, and it is becoming more so, more and more for adults. If we can systematically encourage this tendency and organize our playgrounds accordingly, we shall do much to satisfy a great need."

MANY LICENSES BEING SOLD

Many Sportsmen Take Advantage of Law Permitting Hunting and Fishing on Same License.

That "Whoever while hunting upon the lands of another carelessly or wantonly injures any cows, horses, hogs, sheep, chickens turkeys ducks, or other property, either real or personal of any person shall on conviction be fined not less than the value of the property destroyed or amount of the injury done" is the warning given hunters, who literally infest the rural district about Rushville.

In interviews, farmers say no extensive damage has been caused by hunters, but that many rifles and shotgun bedecked men have been warned of causing damage. Rural men engaged in fields, see numerous city residents pursuing the "wild and elusive" game each day.

The county clerk's office has been the mecca for many hunters recently. Licenses galore have been issued to those who seek the back to nature, train, and indications point to the issuing of many more permits to hunt before the squirrel season closes on November 1.

Hunters say many squirrels are to be found in the country districts. Each day expert cracksmen return to their homes in cities and small towns, their baggy hunting coats filled with dainty squirrel tit-bits.

Besides the numerous hunters, who fill the rural districts by day, almost innumerable fisherman line the streams of Rush and adjoining counties. Many sportsmen take advantage of the law that permits hunting and fishing with the purchase of a single license.

A state law says, It shall be unlawful for any person who is a resident of the state of Indiana to hunt or fish anywhere in the state of Indiana without first procuring a license to do so and then he may hunt and fish only during the respective periods of the year when it shall be lawful to do so. In every county of the state having a population of less than two hundred thousand inhabitants, according to the last preceding census, it shall be the duty of the circuit court to issue such licenses to any resident of such county upon application of such person."

700 POLICE ON THE JOB

A crowd of 5,000 persons was attracted to the square.

CONGRESSIONAL PROBE PROBABLE

Appeared Likely Charges American Marines Shot Down Fleeing Mexicans Will be Investigated.

NEWSPAPER STORY GIVES IT

Wm. G. Shepherd, U. P. Staff Correspondent, Tells Story of Ensign Richardson's Defeat.

(By United Press.)

Vera Cruz, Mexico, July 11.—Congressional investigation to learn whether American marines shot down and killed fleeing Mexicans during the occupation of Vera Cruz appeared likely today.

Fred L. Boalt, correspondent of the Newspaper Enterprise association, who was ordered deported for sending out a newspaper story containing the charge today declared he obtained the story from Ensign Richardson of the Battleship Arkansas and from other officers. He said he would demand a congressional investigation before he would give up his credentials. Wm. G. Shepherd, correspondent of the United Press, and several other war correspondents, were summoned to appear today before the board of inquiry sitting on the battleship Texas.

Shepherd swore that the head naval officials had told of shooting down armed Mexicans during the occupation of Vera Cruz by pretending to allow them to escape.

Shepherd said Richardson told the story in his presence and described how one Mexican was killed. He said he heard one story how some Mexicans were locked in the house and then set free and fired on as they fled. While the stories sounded incredible he took the word of the officers because of the "naval code of honor," Shepherd said.

Shepherd said he heard Ensign Richardson says:

"We let a Mexican get within two feet of safety behind a wall and then fired and got him. He was not armed and was not in uniform."

DISEASE COSTS STATE LARGE SUM

Dr. Hurty Says Matter of Health is Matter of Business—Connected With Poverty

GIVES ANOTHER TRUE STORY

(By United Press.)

Indianapolis, July 11.—Disease costs the people of Indiana $25,000 annually, according to a bulletin issued today by Dr. J. N. Hurty of the state board of health.

"If poverty were prevented, our public and private charity taxes would amount to scarcely nothing," said Dr. Hurty. "Let us get out good business heads together and prevent disease, and then much poverty and human misery would depart. To permit disease to occur with its train of social ills is bad business. The greatest business before the business men of today is the public health. Will they ever catch on?

"Poverty and disease are closely connected. Probably 95 per cent of poverty is caused by disease. Here is a true story. George Sims was a first class workman in a machine shop when he was twenty years old. He was temperate, industrious and thrifty. He was a good productive citizen. At twenty-four he was married, had two healthy children and was paying for a home. Down he came with typhoid fever, a disease the state should not permit to exist. His wife earned a little money but payments on the home were suspended. George returned to work but shortly he fell victim to consumption. Soon he had to give up, and gradually sinking deeper into poverty, died. That's the kind of thing good business men should prevent.

The balloon San Francisco 1915 will receive weather reports from Washington each night by wireless.

THIRTY THOUSAND ELKS IN REUNION

Is Expected That This Many Will Attend Jubilee Session in Denver—Starts Monday

THREE PARADES ARE PLANNED

(By United Press.)

Denver, July 11.—One of the greatest crowds Denver has ever entertained began arriving here today when the vanguard of the members and families of the Benevolent Protective Order of Elks arrived for the Grand Jubilee Reunion to be held next week. Local Elks' officials estimated that fully 30,000 Elks would be here by Monday night, exclusive of families of members and their friends. Preparations for the reunion, which have been rushed for two weeks, were finished today.

The last of the street decorations have been put up, headquarters for the various delegations have been prepared and arrangements completed for handling the big crowds smoothly. Registration headquarters have been opened in the Champau street side of the Municipal Auditorium and the meeting of the Grand Lodge will be held in the theatre part of the building. Grand Exalted Ruler Edward Leach arrived today and was given a rousing greeting, although the official reception will not be held until tomorrow.

Throughout the reunion the local Elks will keep open house at their club building. Across the street is the official reviewing stand where the grand lodge officers will witness the three parades planned. The chief of these will be next Thursday in which all visiting Elks will participate. There will be two parades Wednesday. The first, in the afternoon, will be an industrial parade in which each lodge outside of Denver will have a float.

Rush County Teachers Institute will be Held Mornings of Chautauqua Week in Court House

TWO EXCELLENT SPEAKERS

Dr. A. B. Hall of University of Wisconsin and Dr. Wirt Lowther of Columbus Will Lecture

The usual plan of holding the Rush County Teachers' institute in co-operation with the chautauqua will again be followed this year. The institute sessions will be held in the court house assembly room starting in the mornings at eight o'clock and continuing until eleven-thirty o'clock. The first session will be held on Monday, August 3 and the closing one on Friday.

The lecturers this year are Dr. Arnold B. Hall and Dr. Wirt Lowther. Dr. Hall is professor of history in the University of Wisconsin and will give the teachers addresses upon the philosophy and function of history. Dr. Lowther will give a series of lectures upon literary authors and their productions. He appeared before the teachers last year and needs no introduction as his work was very interesting and instructive. Dr. Lowther is pastor of the First Methodist church in Columbus.

County Superintendent C. M. George has not yet selected the subjects of the addresses, but both speakers will give a series of talks on literature and history. The sessions of the institute are open to all teachers who expect to teach in Rush county this year and they are compelled to pay the institute fee.

Mrs. M. Taylor will be in charge of the music at the opening exercises of the institute. County Superintendent George will act as chairman and Miss Freda Flint is the secretary-treasurer of the institute. The institute, as it has been held, has been growing in favor and a record crowd is expected this year.

The annual business session of the institution will be held following the regular program on Friday morning and is the last thing before adjournment. At this time the reports of the committees will be received and officers elected.

HAS ADVANTAGE OF MUCH TRAVEL

Sent From This County of Estate of Late Josiah Binford.

Deputy Auditor Bales today sent a check to the state treasurer for $122,20 in payment for the inheritance tax on the estate of the late Josiah Binford. This is the first inheritance tax that has been paid from Rush county under the new law. The estate was appraised by Howard Barrett, inheritance tax commissioner. The estate was found to be worth approximately $30,000. Mr. Binford died several months ago near Carthage.

WHEAT AVERAGES 7 TO 15 BUSHEL

Hessian Fly and Joint Worm Cause Unusually Small Yield in Walker Township This Year.

460 BUSHELS OFF 40 ACRES

Reports from Walker township are in effect that the wheat crop is almost a failure. Although there are a few good fields, not many of them average over from seven to fifteen bushels to the acre. In spite of this will make up to some extent for the extremely low average, the wheat is grading better than usual and this make up to some extent for the shortage in yield. As an example, the grain from one field near Manilla was sold yesterday and forty acres only produced four hundred and sixty bushels of wheat.

The reason for this unusual condition is the fact that the Hessian fly and the joint worm have got in their work in Walker township. In addition to this, it is pointed out that the wheat was extremely hard to entombed in yield.

The corn crop in all parts of the county is said to give prospect of an unusually large yield.

ACCEPTED APPOINTMENT.

Attorneys were in court yesterday on the case of the Fairview Burial Grounds Association against John F. Smelser for the appropriation of ground for cemetery use. Samuel L. Innis accepted the appointment as special judge to hear the case and it was agreed that a statement of facts should be filed. Judge Megee held the court record open for the proceedings of yesterday.

Dr. Herbert L. Willett's commencement address at the LaCrosse State Normal school yesterday was one of those rare utterances which in truth give shape to human lives. No young man or young woman under twenty-five could hear it without being inspired to unremitting effort in every kind of enterprise upon which the future depends. No other person could hear it without a sense of profound gratitude for having been put into possession of so comprehensive a view of paramount facts of human history and for having been so surely encouraged to think that to the last day of our lives there is still time for a word or a deed in humanity's service that is worth while."

Quoting further from the Nashville, Tenn., Christian Advocate, it says: "He has rare power to make the great moral leaders of the Bible, live and move before us, while he interprets in terms of modern thought and of the religious needs of our day the great messages which they brought to the people of their own times."

Cots will not be necessary as the beds will be of straw covered with canvas. A cook will be employed and the camp will be complete in every detail. A stove, lanterns, hatchets, camp stools, rope and many other things are needed and the boys are asked to report to either Carl Webb or L. B. Smelser if they have any of these.

THREATENS TO SET NEW RECORD

Dr. Herbert L. Willett, University of Chicago Professor, Will Open The Chautauqua This Year.

HE IS A CHARMING SPEAKER

He is Styled as the Most Scholarly and Attractive Lecturer on Literature of the Bible.

Dr. Herbert L. Willett of the University of Chicago will open the annual Rush county chautauqua this year Sunday, August 2 with two lectures, one in the afternoon and one in the evening. His afternoon subject will be, "The Man of Nazareth" and evening subject, "The Spirit of Youth."

Dr. Willett, who is professor of Semitic language and literature in the University of Chicago, and pastor of the Memorial Church of Christ Chicago, has rightly been styled by the Christian Advocate of Nashville, Tenn., the most attractive and scholarly lecturer on the literature and biography of the bible to be found anywhere in America. In both Europe and America his lectures have attracted wide attention. He is a charming speaker with a clear, resonant voice, splendid appearance, eloquent language and strong reasoning.

Dr. Willett has also had the advantages of travel in Bible lands. In fact, he completed recently a ten months' tour of the world, in which he visited many of the most prominent mission fields and returning, brought a wealth of latest material on recent developments, especially in the Orient. This tour lends added interest to his chautauqua and Lyceum work.

Best of all, Dr. Willett's lectures are of such a nature that they are bound to bear fruit in the lives of those who comprise his audiences. In this connection, commenting editorially on Dr. Willett's address at La Crosse, the La Crosse Leader-Press said:

"Dr. Herbert L. Willett's commencement address at the La Crosse State Normal school yesterday was one of those rare utterances which in truth give shape to human lives. No young man or young woman under twenty-five could hear it without being inspired to unremitting effort in every kind of enterprise upon which the future depends. No other person could hear it without a sense of profound gratitude for having been put into possession of so comprehensive a view of paramount facts of human history and for having been so surely encouraged to think that to the last day of our lives there is still time for a word or a deed in humanity's service that is worth while."

Quoting further from the Nashville, Tenn., Christian Advocate, it says: "He has rare power to make the great moral leaders of the Bible, live and move before us, while he interprets in terms of modern thought and of the religious needs of our day the great messages which they brought to the people of their own times."

The School News at De Moines, Ia., following the lecture by Dr. Willett said: "It is well said that West High has not had a better example of clear, beautiful English, delivered in most pleasing manner."

Mrs. Bruce Johnson of west of this city is in a very serious condition, and little hopes for her recovery is expressed.

Dr. Frank H. Green's Automobile Built as he Wanted it.

The "Green Imp" is the name placed on the new automobile owned by Dr. F. H. Green and built at the Bowen garage. The machine was completed today and is now in use by Dr. Green. Dr. Green wanted an automobile built along certain lines and not being able to find what he wanted in the market decided to have it built to his order at the Bowen garage. It is a classy roadster with six cylinders having seventy-two horse power. Albert Capp liked the Green idea of a car and is having a roadster built here that will develop ninety-two horse power. A new truck for the telephone company is also being built at the Bowen place.

WILL NOT HONOR REQUISITIONS

Governor Ralston Refuses Today to Allow Six Evansville Brewers Sent to Tennessee.

HELD PAPERS DEFECTIVE

(By United Press)

Indianapolis, Ind., July 11.—Governor Ralston today refused to honor requisition papers for the return to Tennessee of six Evansville brewers who were indicted at Memphis for alleged violation of the four miles state prohibition law of Tennessee.

The governor held that the requisition papers were defective and declined to honor them for that reason. He also expressed doubt as to whether the brewers could be confined to the state because none of them was in the state of Tennessee at the time the crime was alleged to have been committed.

Doubtful fearful of the mob, the weather man left this phrase today to be worked up by the imagination of the thermometer-gazers. It was no trouble for the unimaginable one to figure it out that there would "not be much change in temperature." If there is much more of a change, it will likely be upward and all of the thermometers will have to be revised the same way.

But one might as well hold out the olive branch to the w. m. He is going to have his way. He has the high and the low pressures just about equal on the weather map and he says this makes him helpless. He is worthy a little praise for producing a few cooling breezes at night. Last night was not bad for the purpose for which night was devised.

A change came up out of the darkness shortly after 8 o'clock and cool breezes blew from the lake region, where there is a "high." Secondly whatever of warm temperatures are prevailing are purely home grown, and due solely to the activity of the sun during the day. If southerly winds prevailed bringing superheated air from the gulf over night, then the mercury would be pushed out at the top of the bulb and there would be some cause for real complaint.

GARDNER FOUND GUILTY BY JURY

Indianapolis Packer is Fined $500 Today for Having Unwholesome Meat in His Possession.

SEALED VERDICT LAST NIGHT

Case is Tried in Criminal Court on Appeal After Conviction in Police Court.

(By United Press.)

Indianapolis, Ind., July 11.—Charles J. Gardner, wealthy meat packer, was today found guilty in criminal court of having unwholesome meat in his possession and was fined $500. Gardner appealed to criminal court when he was convicted recently in police court.

The jury reached an agreement about 10 o'clock last night and returned a sealed verdict, which was read this morning. An attempt was made to get all the attorneys in the case together last night that the verdict might be opened, but all of them could not be found. The jury retired at 4:30 o'clock.

Maj. Downing, special judge, before whom the case was tried, instructed the jury that the state not only must prove that Gardner had the carcass of the alleged diseased cow in his possession, but it must go farther and show that the beef was intended for sale for human food, or to have been exposed for sale.

The law under which Gardner was indicted does not prevent a person from having the carcass of a diseased animal, or unwholesome meat in his possession if it is not held for purposes forbidden by the act.

Gardner took the witness stand in his own behalf at the morning session. He told of having bought the cow after it was killed by a humane officer and said he had not ordered one of the state's witnesses to "dress it in the usual manner." He asserted what orders he gave were to the foreman of the packing plant. He said he had no intention of exposing the carcass for sale. The penalty on the charge on which Gardner was tried is a fine of $10 to $500, to which might have been added imprisonment in jail for ten to 180 days.

Alfred Kersey, a carpenter of Lewisville, fell off a barn he was building north of Lewisville Thursday and suffered serious injuries.

Who is Getting the Money

This is directed to the eye of local retailers.

When nationally made products are advertised in the columns of The Daily Republican a demand is created right here.

It is among people who are either your customers or would like to be.

The dealers who are alert to let the public know they have these goods, who display them in their windows, who advertise the fact bring this business their way.

And more important than making sales is the fact that these dealers are also making customers.

They are adding to their asset of good will.

FARMERS USING MORE FERTILIZER

This is indicated by rapidly growing production of soil foods and increased importation.

Steady increase in Available Supply of Fertilizer is shown in Statistics of Government.

That American farmers are using constantly increasing quantities of fertilizers is evident both from the rapidly growing production of soil foods in the United States and from the marked increase in importations of that class.

A steady increase in the available supply of fertilizers is indicated by the latest statistics of the Government. The domestic manufacture of fertilizers, for example, as reported by the Bureau of the Census, in 1909, amounted to 194 million dollars or nearly double the total reported for 1904. Of phosphate rock the domestic production has doubled since 1902, the total for 1912, according to the United States Geological Survey, being about 3 million tons, of which 1 million tons were exported. Of cottonseed oil cake, about one-fourth of the total consumption of 12 million tons is used for fertilizer purposes, recent estimates placing the value of the oil cake thus employed without first feeding it to animals at from 6 to 8 million dollars per annum. The domestic production of sulphur, which yields sulphuric acid, an important material in the manufacture of fertilizers, has increased enormously in recent years—from 3,117 long tons in 1900 to 303,172 tons in 1912, exclusive of about 350,000 tons of pyrites, also a source of sulphuric acid. About 90 per cent. of all the sulphuric acid made in this country is used in the preparation of superphosphates and other artificial fertilizers.

Imports of fertilizer materials also increased, data compiled by the Bureau of Foreign and Domestic Commerce, Department of Commerce, for the period ended with April, 1914, indicating greatly enlarged arrivals of nitrates, potash salts, and other similar materials. The important exceptions relate to those articles the domestic production of which has so increased as to obviate the necessity of large importations, as in the case of phosphates, to those, the supply of which has diminished, as in the case of guano, formerly abundant in South America, South Africa, and certain Pacific Islands but yearly becoming more scarce as an article of commerce.

Nitrate of soda ranks first in value of imports of fertilizer materials, the total imports thereof in the fiscal year having exceeded a half million tons, valued at over 20 million dollars. About 15 per cent. of this is used for fertilizer. Of sulphate of ammonia, the imports increased from 15 thousand tons in 1903 to 55 thousand tons, valued at nearly 4 million dollars in 1913, and in the July-April period of the current year have already reached 75 thousand tons. We also imported 15 thousand tons of calcium cyanamide, popularly known as "air-nitrogen compound."

Kainit, a potash salt of very low prices, was imported last year to the extent of 466 thousand tons, valued at 2 million dollars; sulphate of potash, 43 thousand tons, valued at nearly 2 million dollars; and other fertilizer salts, 172 thousand tons, value at 2 million dollars. About 90 per cent. of the imported potash is used for fertilizers, and only about 10 per cent. in the manufacture of glass, soap-making, and other chemical industries. The imports of both the nitrates and the potash salts have more than doubled in the last ten years.

Other important fertilizers imported last year included 33 thousand tons of bone dust, or animal charcoal; 15 thousand tons of Thomas meal, derived from basic slag, a phosphorus-bearing by-product of Thomas-Gilchrist process of making steel; and 115 thousand tons of miscellaneous substances used only for manure. Our imports of guano, which amounted to 17,218 tons in 1903, amounted to only 16,462 tons in 1913; and those of crude phosphate have fallen from 153,096 tons in 1903 to 23,478 tons in 1913, a decrease of 85 per cent. in the decade.

The United States obtains practically all its potash salts from Germany; its nitrate of soda, from Chile; its bone dust, chiefly from Europe, Canada, and India; and its miscellaneous fertilizers, mostly from Canada, Germany, Belgium, and the United Kingdom.

A Talk to Mrs. Housewife of Rushville.

When that visitor is here from out-of-town you hurry home from church on Sunday morning to make sure the big dinner is going to be just right. You "pitch in" yourself and when everything is ready you're too tired and hot to enjoy the meal. When the meal is over there comes the cleaning up before that afternoon drive and for the rest of the day you feel unfit for your role of entertaining hostess.

There's only one way to overcome that worry and hurry, to prevent "that tired feeling" before your day of rest is half through. Your husband will agree on that point when you suggest taking Mr. and Mrs. Out-of-Town to a Sunday dinner at the

Professional Bull Moose Agitators

First Deny Indicted Election

Officials were Progressives

THE RESOLUTION FALLS FLAT

Charges of Crookedness give Foundation to Well Defined Rumor of "Working Agreement."

(Special to the Daily Republican)

Indianapolis, Ind., July 11.—There was some rather lively scurrying of professional Bull Moose agitators the other evening when announcement was made that a half dozen Progressive members of election boards had been indicted on charges of election corruption in connection with the recent primaries in the county. It was apparent in double quick time to the leaders of the Beveridge party, whose official tune is "Onward Christian Soldiers," that something must be done to offset the effect that this revelation would have on the public mind. A weak effort was made to deny that the men under indictment were Progressives but the fact remained that the men so charged served as Progressive members of the boards that are charged with crookedness. It was finally decided that the Bull Moose candidates in Marion county should meet and pass a "strong" resolution against the present Indiana primary law which was done and heralded broadcast.

The indictment of representatives of the Progressive party on charges of election crookedness in this county tends to give foundation to the well defined rumor that has been current over Indiana for months to the effect that the Democratic politicians intend to use the professional Bull Moose politicians this fall in their effort to defeat the Republican ticket.

By perfecting "working agreements" with unscrupulous Bull Moose agitators in various counties of the state it is said that the Democratic brewery politicians hope to be able to dictate the minority appointments on the election boards this fall to the end that only "acceptable" men may be named as representatives of the Progressive party.

It is said that in a number of counties the Democratic machine at present is in control of the so-called Progressive organization. The activity of politicians like Donn Roberts in Progressive organizations, as revealed by the recent trial of Roberts in Terre Haute, is having the effect of driving right thinking Progressives into the Republican organization.

Reports from over the state indicate that Republican workers are watching closely for manifestations of the activity of the bi-partisan Democratic-Bull Moose combination in an effort to secure control of the election boards and that they are making plans to wreck such combinations wherever and attempt is made to perfect an agreement.

Wilson's Big Stick

President Wilson has again demonstrated his lack of tact in attempting to force through the senate his appointments of Paul M. Warburg of New York and T. D. Jones of Chicago, a director of the International Harvester company, when the senate does not take the same view, apparently, of the two men as the president.

Many senators are up in arms over the president's violent use of the big stick and are freely asserting that the president's dictum that the two nominations be confirmed whether or not the senate agrees is striking at the dignity and independence of the upper house.

It appears that it was more in the spirit of retaliation than anything else that the senate committee of banking and currency voted adversely on the Jones nomination and by a unanimous vote decided that no more attention shall be given to the nomination of Warburg. But the president goes them one better. He says that if the senate refuses to confirm his appointment of Warburg, he will not name another in his place, thus leaving the place open and making it appear that the fault lies at the door of the senate. In other language, the president has decided that if the senate will not play his way there will be no play.

Action on the Warburg appointment was held up because Warburg refused to go before the committee and submit to questioning. The decision of the committee is equivalent to indefinite postponement. Warburg had first withdrawn his name, but was later persuaded by the president to allow it to be presented to the committee with the understanding that he would not have to appear before the committee. It was with this condition of affairs that President Wilson freely predicted to visitors Thursday that both Warburg's and Jones' appointments would be confirmed.

Mr. Jones, a friend of the president's for twenty years, was under fire because he has been director of the International Harvester company better known as the Harvester trust. He was director at the time alleged acts of the trust were held illegal by the supreme court of Missouri, and based on the same evidence, the United States department of justice has started a suit against the Harvester trust.

The president was quoted as saying he doubted the accuracy of the facts set out in the statement given the press by Acting Chairman Hitchcock of the committee concerning the statements of Mr. Jones before that committee.

The President was quoted as saying that if the statements of the committee did not agree with those made by him in his letter to the committee concerning Mr. Jones he doubted the accuracy of these statements."

Acting Chairman Hitchcock's response to this was significant:

"If the President has been correctly quoted, and if he doubts the accuracy of the statement given out by way of the committee, the confidential print of the testimony of Mr. Jones is at his disposal, as are all confidential papers. That testimony will show exactly what Mr. Jones had to say to the committee."

Hitchcock further stated that the action of the committee with respect to Mr. Jones was based upon his connection with the Harvester company. He said the report would not be made for several days, as it was deemed to be desirable to incorporate in the report the decisions of the court in Missouri when the Harvester trust was ousted in that state.

The court records, it was stated, set out acts committed during three years of the incumbency of Jones as a director of the Harvester trust, which the court held were in violation of the law.

The fight has gone beyond the mere question of whether Mr. Warburg is or is not fitted for a place on the Reserve Board.

Going Some-

Indiana is "broke" under Democratic rule.

The prospect that the federal government, under Democratic management, will have to issue bonds to meet the ordinary expenses is beginning to loom large.

The city of Indianapolis, under Democratic rule, will have $175,000 less than nothing in the city treasury at the end of the current year.

What Our Neighbors Are Talking About

Lincoln a Party Man.

(Washington Herald)

Charles W. Fairbanks in his admirable address to the Republican newspaper men this week, called attention to the fact that Abraham Lincoln was a party man. He believed that political parties are essential in organizing and giving expression to the will of the people in popular government." Mr. Fairbanks quoted from a letter written by Lincoln in 1864, in which the policy of party regularity is urged.

It is a common thing for the demagogues of the day to denounce party government and advocate party disloyalty. Some of these persons pose as republicans of Lincoln, and in his name advance heresies of government that are antagonistic to everything that Abraham Lincoln thought, said or did. Mr. Lincoln believed in the law, in the constitution, in representative government. If he were alive today he would have no more patience with the wild-eyed and loose tongued enthusiasts of the day than he had for similar characters of his time, the crack-brain zealots who made his life miserable when a responsibility rested upon him greater than the burden that any other president has had to carry.

Mr. Lincoln was opposed to human slavery, of course. But his first thought was for the preservation of the union under the federal constitution. He knew that all the other problems were of secondary importance and that these were certain of orderly adjustment if the integrity of the constitution could be maintained.

Lincoln was not an agitator. He was a statesman.

G.O.P. SHOULD BE BACK IN POWER

This is Opinion of E. C. Davis of Crown Point, Former Progressive, Who Writes State Chairman.

COMMENDS PARTY'S ATTITUDE

Says Living Examples of Democratic Incapacity Are in Daily Evidence In State and Nation.

[Special to the Daily Republican.]

Indianapolis, Ind., July 11.—Chairman Will H. Hays of the Republican committee today received a letter from E. C. Davis of Crown Point, Indiana, who was a Progressive in 1912, in which he commended the Republican state chairman for the statements he recently issued "to every well-wisher of good government in Indiana." Mr. Davis writes as follows:

"I take pleasure in endorsing every statement made in the literature sent out by the Republican state central committee, and I hereby pledge you my assistance and co-operation in the coming campaign.

"I left the Republican party and voted the progressive ticket in 1912 in the belief that the Progressive party at that time offered the most effective panacea for the ills of the Democratic legislation. Since then the changed attitude of the Republican party, coupled with the pleasant remembrance of its great achievements, its position on the vital issues and among them the tariff question on which the Democratic legislation has proved so hurtful, I became convinced that the Republican party should be returned to power.

"Living examples of Democratic incapacity are in daily evidence in the administration of both state and national affairs. The party has always been strong on promises and weak in execution; its leaders are usually impracticable theorists. Democracy is by far a greater menace to good government today than the so-called Republican bosses.

"I agree with you that the country needs today a united Republican party in order that no harm shall come to the republic."

BAD OPERATION AVOIDED

By Timely Use of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Mrs. Sowers' Own Statement.

Hodgdon, Maine.—"I feel it a duty I owe to all suffering women to tell what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound did for me. One year ago I found myself a terrible sufferer. I had pains in both sides and such a soreness I could scarcely straighten up at times. My back ached, I had no appetite and was so nervous I could not sleep, then I would be so tired mornings that I could scarcely get around. It seemed almost impossible to move or do a bit of work and I thought I never would be any better until I submitted to an operation. I commenced taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and soon felt like a new woman. I had no pains, slept well, had good appetite and could do almost all my own work for a family of four. I shall always feel that I owe my good health to your medicine."—Mrs. HAYWARD SOWERS, Hodgdon, Maine.

If you are ill do not drag along until an operation is necessary, but at once take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

If you have the slightest doubt that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound will help you, write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. (confidential) Lynn, Mass., for advice. Your letter will be opened, read and answered by a woman, and held in strict confidence.

Children's Playgrounds

A Modern Municipal Innovation Considered a Prime Necessity to Child Development.

By J. Feudner.

working out the play instruments of boys of most all ages, and quite contrary to the assumption, he does not ask for anything better. So this is what the playground has to compete with, and, in order to do this successfully, opportunities must be offered whereby distinction may be gained, where the boy may test his speed without breaking the law; where he may test his skill throwing a ball over a home base instead of a window which is of about the same size; where he may steal bases in a game instead of fruit—in fine, where he may distinguish himself among his own kind, whose opinions concerning himself he values above everything else."

We hear much about "social centers" for towns and cities, and no doubt such a need is felt. Every town should have a social center for the grown-ups. On this subject Mr. Eckhart, a Chicago student of the recreation centers, says:

"In these playgrounds lies the real beginning of the social redemption of the people in large cities. The greatest need of American life today is some common meeting-ground for the people, where business may be forgotten, friendships formed and co-operation established. The playground seems to have great possibilities in that direction. It is already the social center for the children, and it is becoming more so, more and more for adults. If we can systematically encourage this tendency and organize our playgrounds accordingly, we shall do much to satisfy a great need."

FARMERS WARN CONGRESSIONAL GAME SEEKERS PROBE PROBABLE

They Point to State Law Prohibiting Damage by Hunters Since Squirrel Season is on.

MANY LICENSES BEING SOLD

Many Sportsmen Take Advantage of Law Permitting Hunting and Fishing on Same License.

That "Whoever while hunting upon the lands of another carelessly or wantonly injures any cows, horses, hogs, sheep, chickens, turkeys, ducks, or other property, either real or personal of any person shall on conviction be fined not less than the value of the property destroyed or amount of the injury done" is the warning given hunters, who literally infest the rural district about Rushville.

In interviews, farmers say no extensive damage has been caused by hunters, but that many rifles and shotgun bedecked men have been warned of causing damage. Rural men engaged in fields, see numerous city residents pursuing the "swift and elusive" game each day.

The county clerk's office has been the mecca for many hunters recently. Licenses galore have been issued to those who seek the back to nature, train and indications point to the issuing of many more permits to hunt before the squirrel season closes on November 1.

Hunters say many squirrels are to be found in the country districts. Each day expert cracksmen return to their homes in cities and small towns, their baggy hunting coats filled with dainty squirrel tit-bits.

Besides the numerous hunters, who fill the rural districts by day, almost immeasurable fisherman line the streams of Rush and adjoining counties. Many sportsmen take advantage of the law that permits hunting and fishing with the purchase of a single license.

A state law says: It shall be unlawful for any person who is a resident of the state of Indiana to hunt or fish anywhere in the state of Indiana without first presenting a license to do so and then he may hunt and fish only during the respective periods of the year when it shall be lawful to do so. In every county of the state having a population of less than two hundred thousand inhabitants, according to the last preceding census, it shall be the duty of the circuit court to issue such licenses to any resident of such county upon application of such person."

Appeared Likely Charges American Marines Shot Down Fleeing Mexicans Will be Investigated.

NEWSPAPER STORY GIVES IT

Wm. G. Shepherd, U. P. Staff Correspondent, Tells Story of Ensign Richardson's Defeat.

(By United Press.)

Vera Cruz, Mexico, July 11.—Congressional investigation to learn whether American marines shot down and killed fleeing Mexicans during the occupation of Vera Cruz appeared likely today.

Fred L. Boalt, correspondent of the "Newspaper Enterprise" association, who was ordered deported for sending out a newspaper story containing the charge today declared he obtained the story from Ensign Richardson of the Battleship Arkansas and from other officers. He said he would demand a congressional investigation before he would give up his credentials, Wm. G. Shepherd, correspondent of the United Press, and correspondent of United Press, and several other war correspondents, were summoned to appear today before the board of inquiry sitting on the battleship Texas.

Shepherd swore that the head naval officials had told of shooting down armed Mexicans during the occupation of Vera Cruz by pretending to allow them to escape.

Shepherd said Richardson told the story in his presence and described how one Mexican was killed. He said he heard one story how some Mexicans were locked in the house and then set fire and fired on as they fled. While the stories sounded incredible he took the word of the officers because of the "naval code of honor," Shepherd said.

Shepherd said he heard Ensign Richardson says:

"We let a Mexican get within two feet of safety behind a wall and then fired and got him. He was not armed and was not in uniform."

DISEASE COSTS STATE LARGE SUM

Dr. Hurty Says Matter of Health is Matter of Business—Connected With Poverty

GIVES ANOTHER TRUE STORY

(By United Press.)

Indianapolis, July 11.—Disease costs the people of Indiana $25,000,000 annually, according to a bulletin issued today by Dr. J. N. Hurty of the state board of health.

"If poverty were prevented, our public and private charity taxes would amount to scarcely nothing," said Dr. Hurty. "Let us get out good business heads together and prevent disease, and then much poverty and human misery would depart. To permit disease to occur with its train of social ills is bad business. The greatest business before the business men of today is the public health. Will they ever catch on?

"Poverty and disease are closely connected. Probably 95 per cent of poverty is caused by disease. Here is a true story. George Sims was a first class workman in a machine shop when he was twenty years old. He was temperate, industrious and thrifty. He was a good productive citizen. At twenty-four he was married, had two healthy children and was paying for a home. Down he came with typhoid fever, a disease the state should not permit to exist. His wife earned a little money but payments on the home were suspended. George returned to work but shortly he fell victim to consumption. Soon he had to give up and gradually sinking deeper into poverty, died. That's the kind of thing good business men should prevent."

9 BALLOONS ARE READY

(By United Press.)

St. Louis, Mo., July 11.—Nine big balloons were being filled preparing to start this afternoon in the elimination race to decide who will be one of the three balloons to represent the United States in the race to start from Kansas City this fall. Fair weather was predicted for today and tomorrow and it was believed the balloons would soar over the Great Lakes. The balloon San Francisco 1915 will receive weather reports from Washington each night by wireless.

THIRTY THOUSAND ELKS IN REUNION

Is Expected That This Many Will Attend Jubilee Session in Denver —Starts Monday

THREE PARADES ARE PLANNED

(By United Press.)

Denver, July 11.—One of the greatest crowds Denver has ever entertained began arriving here today when the vanguard of the members and families of the Benevolent Protective Order of Elks arrived for the Grand Jubilee Reunion to be held next week. Local Elks' officials estimated that fully 30,000 Elks would be here by Monday night, exclusive of families of members and their friends. Preparations for the reunion, which have been rushed for two weeks, were finished today.

The last of the street decorations have been put up, headquarters for the various delegations have been prepared and arrangements completed for handling the big crowds smoothly. Registration headquarters have been opened in the Champion street side of the Municipal Auditorium and the meeting of the Grand Lodge will be held in the theatre part of the building. Grand Exalted Ruler Edward Lynch arrived today and was given a rousing greeting, although the official reception will not be held until tomorrow.

Throughout the reunion the local Elks will keep open house at their club building. Across the street is the official reviewing stand where the grand lodge officers will witness the three parades planned. The chief of these will be next Thursday in which all visiting Elks will participate. There will be two parades Wednesday. The first, in the afternoon, will be an industrial parade in which each lodge outside of Denver will have a float.
